

the speakers of the evening. The speakers and their subjects were:

District Attorney Landon—"Punishment of Crimes Within the Law."

Rudolph Spreckels—"Francis J. Heney, the Man."

Hon. James D. Phelan—"Characteristics of the Opposition."

Dr. William Rader—"The Moral Crisis."

Charles S. Wheeler—"The Administration of Law."

James Burke, president of the Law Association—"The University Student."

Walter McArthur—"The Injury to the Community."

Judge Tells of Crime.

Judge William P. Lawlor, who is presiding at the Ruff trial, tonight described for the first time an interesting feature of the scene immediately following the shooting. The jurist leaned over Heney and inquired the cause of the trouble. In a voice almost inaudible, the prosecutor said:

"Judge, they've got me."

"Oh, no, I don't think it is that bad," the judge replied.

"Yes, it is," whispered Heney. "Send for my wife and tell her I love her better than anything else in the world."

The county jail at Ingleside tonight has uniformed policemen patrolling the outer walls, each armed with a rifle. They are instructed to allow no one to approach within 20 feet of the building in which Morris Haas, the would-be assassin, sits in his cell under heavy guard. During the day even Mrs. Haas was not allowed to see her husband.

Abe Ruff, who was placed in a cell at his own request shortly after the shooting, is also under heavy guard.

District Attorney Landon tonight accepted the services of Hiram Johnson, Matthew I. Sullivan, and J. J. Dwyer, who volunteered to take up the work where Heney left it when he was shot.

Has Been Practicing.

That Haas had been practicing with a revolver at least a week is evidenced by statements made today by neighbors of the Haas family. They say that on several occasions they were startled by pistol reports, but they could not ascertain their source. The detectives found empty cartridge shells strewn over the stone floor and in Haas' bedroom were two boxes of cartridges.

At 7 o'clock this evening a bulletin was posted at the Lane Hospital as follows:

"Mr. Heney's condition is very satisfactory. The throat is very dry, the flow of blood having ceased. His pulse is good and the fact that he is a man of vigor is greatly in his favor. Naturally he is yet in danger."

"DR. WALLACE TERRY."

Two additional mass meetings have been announced for tonight. One will be held at Grace Church and will be addressed by five preachers and other speakers. The other meeting will be held at Calvary Presbyterian Church.

Encouraging Reports.

More encouraging reports in regard to Mr. Heney came from the hospital early in the day, but the bulletins began to fluctuate in the afternoon. The x-ray exposure in the region of Mr. Heney's throat was taken under the supervision of Drs. Herbert C. Moffitt, Wallace I. Terry, Edwin Bunne, second, G. W. Huntington, and Stanley Sullivan shortly after 10 a. m. Two plates were exposed and when they were developed and showed no trace of the bullet the surgeons became alarmed. It was then decided to allow the plates to thoroughly dry and obtain sharper prints to test the efficacy of the exposure.

STUDENT RUN DOWN BY AN AUTOMOBILE

Rooter for Virginia Football Team Falls Under Wheels and Is Badly Hurt.

Falling from the step of a sightseeing automobile, J. M. Neal, twenty-four years old, of Clover, S. C., a rooter for the University of Virginia football team, was seriously injured.

One of the front wheels of the "rubberneck" wagon passed over the young man's body, and he was forced some distance on the pavement by the rear wheel before the chauffeur could bring the big machine to a stop. Neal was taken to the Georgetown University Hospital, where it was said he was suffering from a dislocation of the right hip and bruises about the head and body. It had not been determined last night whether he was internally hurt.

Neal came to Washington yesterday morning with a crowd of university students and registered at the Arlington Hotel. Going to Georgetown Field early in the afternoon, Neal, with several other members of the party, decided to return to the hotel and not stay for the game because of the bad weather.

The party engaged a sightseeing automobile to convey them to the hotel. Just how the accident occurred is not known. Neal was standing on the step when the machine started and attempted to get off while the automobile was moving.

He fell directly in front of one of the wheels, which passed over his right side. The snow and slush on the pavement made it difficult for the operator to stop the machine, and even after the brakes were applied the automobile slid for several yards.

Several of the students rushed to the injured man's side. He was put in another automobile and carried to the hospital. A telegram was sent to his parents in Clover. It is not thought that his injuries will prove fatal.

NIGHT RIDERS WARN NEGROES TO LEAVE

DALLAS, Tex., Nov. 14.—Following the killing last night of a negro by night riders, and warning given other negroes to quit the community at once, a panic exists among negro cotton pickers in the Concho Valley.

Negroes, according to reports, are leaving the fields in droves and are being induced to work. Many are fleeing the country.

The negro was shot while taking a bale of cotton to Coleman. His body was left beside the cotton with a note of warning to others.

RUMORS OF POISON IN EMPEROR'S DEATH

der the control of Yuan Shih Kai and the conservative under the control of Chang Chih Tung.

The strength of the regency of Tsi An lay in the fact that she succeeded in keeping the two men, the most powerful in the empire, pitted against each other, with the result that her reign was not influenced largely by either, and she was able to dictate her policies without interference.

Prince Chun, though not well known in the foreign field, is acknowledged to be an alert and intelligent statesman, and will in all probability attempt to continue the tactical policy of Tsi An in keeping free of either party. If he falls under the influence of either it will be the progressive Yian Shih Kai, which will mean the further and possibly more rapid awakening of China, the modernizing of her governmental system and the introduction of western ideas.

In either event it is not likely that the policy of the empire toward the United States will in any way be affected, or that Minister Wu Ting-fang will be withdrawn, as he has, in a fashion, kept free of alliance with either party. The change in the administration is much more likely to affect Japan, which may find greater difficulties in the way of the Manchuria situation in case the progressive party comes into control.

Minister Wu Cancels Engagement at Club

Minister Wu Ting-fang was scheduled to address the University Club on "Club Life in China" last night, but notified the secretary that he couldn't come. The secretary understood that it was because of the death of the Emperor, and as it was too late to secure any other speaker the evening was untaken.

At the Chinese legation it was stated that Mr. Wu had retired and didn't wish to be disturbed.

MAYOR KILLS MAN.

CIENFUEGOS, Nov. 14.—Gonzalo Garcia Vieta, conservative, and former mayor of Cienfuegos, last night shot and killed Eduardo Prieto, a liberal. Vieta says Prieto insulted and attacked him.

FALL INTO RIVER FATAL.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—An unidentified woman, who fell in the water while trying to board a canal boat at the foot of Orchard street, Astoria, L. I., early this morning, died later in St. John's Hospital without having regained consciousness.

Man Arrested With Two Suits on His Person—Unusual Walking Wardrobe.

NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—One of the most peculiar cases brought to the attention of metropolitan sleuths has at last been solved. A clothing manufacturer had been suspicious of a certain buyer for a large clothing store, and, although sure that he was moving a suit away every time he visited the stock room, could not think how it was accomplished. It was eventually found that this buyer wore a very large suit and hid the stolen one under it—thus causing no one to suspect him. The sleuths soon discovered his scheme and caught the "goose" on him. Very unusual, but then the famous of Washington, have pulled a trick that beats all. They bought a big stock of men's suits from this same manufacturer at such a sacrifice of cost price that it was just like taking the goods away without cost.

Financially Embarrassed, Big Raincoat Concern Sells at Loss.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 12.—Owing to much pressure on the part of its creditors, a large Rain-coat manufacturer was compelled to dispose of its manufactured stock at a great sacrifice in order to settle indebtedness. The Famous, of Washington, was the first retailer on the ground with a representative and their bid was accepted for the entire stock. The manufacturer states that never in a career of many years has he sold his goods at such a low price, and he would not do so now but for the fact that his creditors are demanding cash. The stock is all new, having been made for this season's selling, and includes many of the newest patterns. Washington is fortunate in having so enterprising a concern as The Famous to look after its interest in the bargain hunting world.

$6,000 Purchase of MEN'S RAINCOATS

This lot of raincoats was bought from the manufacturer, as stated in the adjoining news story. Our buyer knows real values, and purchased the entire lot—an enormous stock of raincoats, but then, considering their value and the prices we're able to sell them for, it seems a fair risk to us. Look at them—the newest shapes and styles—highly tailored, and guaranteed waterproof. You cannot find their equal at $18.00, $20.00, $22.00, or $25.00. With all the credit you wish.....

Lack of Buyers Hard Blow to Well-Known Manufacturer of Women's Suits.

CHICAGO, Nov. 12.—One of the most prominent manufacturers of suits in this city, having had many cancellations of orders, was compelled to sell made-up stock that he may keep his house in good repute with the financial and business world. This was another opportunity for wide awake retailers to benefit thereby, and it was a Washington, D. C. house that bid the highest for the stock. The highest bidder was The Famous, of 421 and 423 Seventh street, Washington. The buyer for this concern seems to keep a lookout for just such opportunities to promote the reputation of his house as the foremost bargain merchant in his home city. The goods were bought and shipped within twenty-four hours after the bids were opened. This was unusually prompt for so large a deal and means much to the buyer, as it enabled them to offer bargains to their patrons early in the coming week.
